

IOWA WILL NOMINATE SENATORS TODAY

LAWRENCE COLLEGE CONFERS 126 DEGREES RECORD VOTE EXPECTED AT PRIMARY POLL

CAL IS SLOW TO FILL SHIPPING BOARD OFFICE

Reluctant to Reappoint T. V. O'Connor Due to Political Reasons
MUST SELECT CHAIRMAN
President Desires to Give Appointment to Some Other State

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1926 Post Pub. Co.)
Washington—By a peculiar turn of circumstances the Shipping Board may be without a chairman and T. V. O'Connor of New York who has been nominated to succeed himself as a member of the board may be out of a job for a few days at least.

Mr. O'Connor's term expires on midnight of June 8th. The president sent his name to the senate a few days ago but no action was taken by the senate committee on commerce to which it was referred. The next meeting of the committee is on June 10th. When a vacancy occurs in the chairmanship of the board, the vice-chairman succeeds and in this case it is Mr. Plummer of Maine, Republican, who has not always been in sympathy with the president's policy.

Mr. Coolidge knew months ago that Mr. O'Connor's term expired in June. There were many conversations and conferences about it but not until a few days ago did the president reach a decision. Senator Wadsworth of New York, Republican, made a strenuous effort to have Mr. O'Connor reappointed as he recognized the political value of the appointment. Mr. O'Connor was formerly a labor union chief and has a strong influence with the labor vote. It is reliably reported that "Fingy" Connors, one of the Democratic leaders in Buffalo, whence Mr. O'Connor hails, sent word that if Mr. O'Connor were reappointed there would be a natural swing of Democratic votes toward Senator Wadsworth. Whether this is due to Mr. Connors' influence with the Democratic voters or whether it is due to Mr. O'Connor's power with the labor vote which is in large part Democratic, especially among the longshoremen, is hardly the point. The fact was the Senator Wadsworth went to bat for Mr. O'Connor and President Coolidge yielded to the desire of the New York senator who saw the political advantages of the situation.

BOARD LACKS CHAIRMAN

But the president did not designate Mr. O'Connor as chairman. He merely named him as a member for a six-year term. The difficulty about the chairmanship is that the board's personnel is not yet filled. The president has promised Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, who is chairman of the senate committee on commerce that he will soon appoint a man from the northwest to succeed Earl Haney of Oregon, Democrat. The northwest is a bit restrictive about it. Many names have been suggested but none has been agreed upon as yet. Matters of shipping policy are of vital concern to the northwest as is evident from the controversy that has arisen with respect to the sale of the last American government-owned ships on the Pacific coast routes.

Mr. O'Connor has been following the president's policy of endeavoring to dispose of the government fleet as rapidly as possible. There has been no criticism of that phase of his work and it is not believed that the reluctance to reappoint Mr. O'Connor was related so much to the present chairman's activity as it was to a desire to give the appointment to some other state and perhaps pick a man who could bring to the board new policies and end some of the friction that has prevailed almost from the very day Mr. Coolidge took the oath of office.

The president has not obtained new legislation to solve the shipping problem but it is evident that in the absence of any mandate from congress the Shipping Board will be expected gradually to let go of virtually all the ships, keeping up only those routes of uncertain profit to which private shipping companies are not likely to be attracted.

The expectation today is that the senate ultimately will confirm Mr. O'Connor's nomination but that the president will designate someone else as chairman.

Food Expert Here To Plan Electric Cooking School

Mrs. Alma E. Hunt of Chicago, food chemist and Home Economics expert, who will conduct the Free Electric cooking school to be given Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday under the auspices of Appleton Post-Crescent arrived in Appleton Sunday night from Dixon, Ill., where she conducted a very successful cooking school for five weeks. Mrs. Hunt travels all over the United States conducting similar schools and it is at the present time training teachers in the state of Utah. One of the most successful cooking schools conducted by Mrs. Hunt was held at Rockford where nearly 7,000 women attended the school. Mrs. Hunt conducted a school in May at Harrisburg, Ill., where 5,720 women attended the sessions. How the use of an electric range lightens work of the housewife will be proven by Mrs. Hunt this week when she will conduct the cooking school Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Elk club. She will begin each session at 2 o'clock and will close at 4 o'clock. Practical recipes that may be used in the everyday menu will be explained and demonstrated by Mrs. Hunt. Two Hotpoint Electric ranges have been installed by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. for use in the demonstration.

An entirely different program than the one given last year when Mrs. Hunt conducted a cooking school at the Vocational school, will be presented this year. She has brought with her many new recipes which will not appear in the program books which will be distributed to all those who attend the cooking sessions. Mrs. Hunt's school proved so successful last year that she was brought to Appleton this year by public demand. Miss Mabel Burke, teacher of cooking at Appleton Vocational school said of Mrs. Hunt: "During the week Mrs.

Representative Rankin and Commissioner Fenning Engage in Fight

Washington, D. C. (AP)—An exchange of blows, the throwing of an inkwell and a glass of water occurred Monday at the capitol in a fight between Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi on one side and Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning of the district of Columbia and his counsel, Frank J. Hogan on the other.

The encounter was staged before the house judiciary committee where an investigation of Mr. Fenning's administration is under way.

Mr. Hogan a slight injury above the left temple, but the participants were separated before others were hurt.

Representative Rankin admitted the throwing of the inkwell, water, and Fenning said he did all in his power to reach Rankin with his fists, but was unsuccessful. Rankin said some one had struck him and that he thought it was Fenning.

The fight was precipitated when Rankin became angered over an interruption by Hogan to his line of questions.

Ukrainians in Eastern Galicia Lay Siege to Cities of Tarnow and Lemberg

Danzig—(AP)—Reports received here say disturbances have broken out in eastern Galicia, where the Polish government is said to be using troops as a counter measure against Ukrainians who are demanding autonomy for the territory and refuse to acknowledge allegiance to Poland.

Tarnow and Lemberg have been declared under a state of emergency. A clash is said to have occurred at Tarnopol between troops and Ukrainian demonstrators in which several persons were killed and more than 50 wounded. Students to the number of 106 were arrested.

At Lemberg, Ukrainians in a demonstration demanded the release of political prisoners and attempted to storm the jail. A number of arrests were made there and also in Tarnopol of communist agitators. A severe censorship has been placed on newspapers of east Galicia because of alleged communist propaganda, and the refusal of the peasant to pay taxes.

ACCIDENTS KILL 3 PROMINENT MEN

Meyer London Heyward Cutting and Dr. Hugo Eckner Die in Auto Wrecks

New York—(AP)—Meyer London, the first socialist congressman from an eastern state, and Heyward Cutting, society man and explorer were killed in weekend automobile accidents.

He and two companions who were were killed in weekend automobile accidents.

Representative Rankin admitted the throwing of the inkwell, water, and Fenning said he did all in his power to reach Rankin with his fists, but was unsuccessful. Rankin said some one had struck him and that he thought it was Fenning.

The fight was precipitated when Rankin became angered over an interruption by Hogan to his line of questions.

Heyward Cutting, member of a prominent New York family died of a fractured skull received in an accident on a Long Island road. He was with a party returning from a dance given by Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden.

He and two companions who were slightly injured were found by Constables Salm, the former Millicent Rogers.

Cutting, who was 36, was credited with the first successful introduction of motor transportation into the Gobi desert when he went there on his honeymoon as a member of the Roy Chapman Andrews expedition of 1921.

Another weekend automobile accident in Berlin resulted in injuries to Dr. Hugo Eckner, director of the Zepplin Co. and pilot of the Zr-3 now the Los Angeles when it crossed the Atlantic in 1924.

STARVATION FORCES MEN TO CANNIBALISM

Nome, Alaska—(AP)—Bringing a tale of cannibalism and starvation among the natives of Indian point, Siberia across Bering strait from Alaska, Captain Ira Rank of the motor ship, Trader has just returned from a trading cruise to islands along the Siberian coast.

Three hundred natives died of starvation last winter, Captain Rank said. Those who survived had lived on a diet of their comrades' relatives and dogs. Many of the natives killed their wives and children with knives and then ended their own lives rather than resort to cannibalism.

These natives, Captain Rank said, depend entirely on guns to provide their food and necessities of life. The Soviet authorities, took away their ammunition and guns to prevent any possibility of an uprising and also refused to permit trading with foreigners.

Seven of them, though had to swim a mile to safety. They made the shore as hundreds watched, cheering but unable to help.

Spain Slow To Take Part In League Meet

Brazil Sends No Delegate, Both Countries Desire Permanent Seat

Geneva—(AP)—Spain it is reported is to take no part in the sessions of the council of the League of Nations which began Monday. It is also said in diplomatic quarters in Bern that she will also be without representation at the September council and assembly.

Marquis Quinones De Leon, the Spanish representative on the league has gone to Madrid to confer with Premier Primo De Rivera. It is asserted that Spain like Brazil is non-permanent member of the league council and is demanding a permanent seat in that body on the same footing as the great powers. The reorganization committee of the council, which has been studying the problem, is opposed to giving any other country than Germany a permanent seat.

A sensation was caused at the opening league of nations council Monday when it was seen that Afranio Mello Franco, the Brazilian representative was not present.

The league secretary—General Sir Eric Drummond, announced that he had received a letter from Senor Mello Franco stating that illness prevented his attendance. As no other member of the Brazilian delegation was substituted, however, Mello Franco's illness was generally interpreted as being of a diplomatic nature.

After a considerable exchange of messages between Geneva and Madrid, Spain decided to be represented at the council meeting but only by the first secretary of her legation in Bern. The powers are usually represented on the council by delegates of ambassador or ministerial rank.

Both Brazil and Spain are candidates for permanent council seats but the reorganization committee charged with studying the problem does not favor increasing the number of permanent seats beyond that promised to Germany.

Meanwhile Sir Austen Chamberlain cheered up the league spirit, which was flagging because of what was regarded as the Spanish and Brazilian threats of separation by announcing officially to the world that the long standing Mosul conflict had been settled.

The British foreign secretary told the council that the Turco-British agreement was signed Sunday.

He explained that Iraq, which is under British mandate, ceded by the new treaty a small strip of territory to Turkey but that this did not prejudice Iraq's interests. The parties decided to limit the frontier on the spot under the presidency of a chairman to be chosen by the President of Switzerland.

The council adjourned until Wednesday morning.

Woman Believes She Has Found Lost Charley Ross

New York—(AP)—The half century old mystery of the kidnapping of Charley Ross was under a revived crossfire of claims and denials of solution Monday.

Mrs. Pierre C. Starr of New York, presented in a newspaper Monday morning a claim that she has found the missing Ross in the person of a rugged southerner who had adopted the name of W. C. McHale. Mrs. Starr claimed to be a cousin of the late Christian K. Ross of Germantown, Pa., wealthy father of the child kidnapped in 1874. Mrs. Starr brought the man she claims is Charley Ross to New York from the mountains of North Carolina. Members of the Ross family now living in Philadelphia immediately branded her story as "ridiculous."

McHale, or Julius Coleman Dellinger as he also was known in North Carolina, declared he wanted no money but only his birth right, and said he knew he had been abducted as a child. He told of having been carried through the south in his youth by a wandering tinkler and

BOARD FINDS COOLIDGE DRY ORDER LEGAL

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—President Coolidge in issuing his order authorizing the employment of state officers as prohibition enforcement agents, was "entirely within his rights and guilty of no infraction of the constitution or the law either express or implied," said the majority report of a judiciary sub committee submitted Monday to the entire committee.

In studying the question, the sub committee acted under a senate resolution of which Senator King, Democrat Utah was the author. That senator as one of the subcommittee of five submitted minority views holding that the order was unauthorized and improper.

The sub committee majority held that what the president issued was not an "order" but a mere expression of policy. It stated in its report that the order really "accomplishes nothing" since the attorney general and the international revenue commissioner had authority to make such appointments before the order was issued.

Refraining from expressing any opinion as to the wisdom of the policy of so employing state officers, the sub committee majority views holding that the order was unauthorized and improper.

Nothing said herein is to be construed as an expression of either disapproval or approval of the policy evidenced by the notice of order of the president which has been the subject of discussion.

The committee has deemed itself restricted in the inquiry by the resolution under which it has proceeded to the sole question of whether the president acted in the premises without authority or in violation of the constitution in any of its provisions, express or implied.

REARDON VOTE DOUBTFUL

La Follette and Other Insurgents Back Brookhart in Race

Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—A fair weather prediction and unusual interest manifest in the Republican and Democratic contest for the respective party nominations for the office of United States senator forecast a record vote in Iowa state primary election Monday. Iowa voters have before them the unusual situation of an unelected United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Washington, Iowa, seeking "vindication" at the polls in an effort to obtain the seat of an incumbent Republican Senator A. B. Cummins, who remained in Washington during the entire campaign. Against these two are Howard Clark, Des Moines attorney, who never before has held major public office in Iowa, seeks to obtain the nomination on a platform which, in brief, recites that he is the only Republican candidate who has a chance to defeat a Democratic opponent in the November general election. Dan B. Reardon, Council Bluffs, running on a "wet" platform and L. E. Eichelberg Waterloo, made up the remainder of the Republican senatorial list.

The closing of the campaign was marked by the appeal of senators Norris Howell, Fraser, Nye and La Follette most of them of the "insurgent" group, for the nomination of Brookhart, and by the counter-appeal of the Cummins' managers representing the senator's action and declaring that "Iowa prefers to wash her own linen."

WET STRENGTH UNKNOWN

At the close of the campaign Saturday night managers for each of the candidates issued statements in which they claimed enough votes to insure victory in Monday's balloting.

In the unknown strength of Reardon, appealing to the "wets" perhaps lies a slight possibility that the contest might be thrown in the state Republican convention upon which is devolved the duty of selecting a nominee when no candidate in the primary has obtained at least thirty-five per cent of the vote cast.

Although four democratic candidates entered the field for the nomination as United States senator activity in the campaign was not so pronounced here as in the Republican race. The Democratic race was remarkable for its quiet campaigning by Claude E. Porter, five times candidate of his party for the office he seeks and four times its choice for governor; J. Ray Files Fort Dodge; James Murtagh Waterloo, also a former gubernatorial candidate and George Finch Sioux City. This contest has possibilities of going to convention for an ultimate choice.

VOTE INTERESTS CAPITAL

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Washington looked anxiously toward Iowa Monday, waiting impatiently for the answer to a riddle that has played on the personal emotions and the political sensibilities of many in high places in the national capitol.

In the eyes of both Republican and Democratic politicians unusual considerations have been lifted into exceptional prominence the Republican senatorial contest between Senator Cummins and former Senator Brookhart. The outcome is expected to decide which of two old acquaintances of Washington officialdom is to carry the Republican standard in a state usually counted as Republican and may also throw a ray of light on political questions of near concern to congress and the administration. During his comparatively brief tenure in the senate Brookhart more than once was a thorn in the side of the Republican organization and after his aid to the La Follette independent campaign in 1924 he was formally read out of the party by the Republican caucus.

The possibility of his return is looked upon with manifest apprehension by the old guard leaders. Not only for its immediate effect in enlarging the numerical strength of the insurgent group in the senate but because of its possible moral effect on the standing of the Coolidge administration in the west.

By the same token a Brookhart victory would be hailed as a vindication by the insurgent group, five of whom have openly appealed to the Republican voters of Iowa to send the former senator back to congress.

ROYALTY TAX FOR MINING IS VALID

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The Minnesota law upholding royalty received "for mining or explore, mine, take out and remove ore from land" in that state was declared valid and constitutional today by the Supreme Court, in seven cases brought by the Royal Mineral association and others.

Leasing of mineral lands constitute a distinct characteristic of mining in Minnesota, where virtually all of the iron ore is mined under royalty arrangements with the owners of the land.

The validity of the law was attacked on the ground that it violated the federal and state constitutions because arbitrary and unreasonable and was unequal in its application.

TASTE IS FICKLE IN NIGHT CLUBS

Sophie Tucker Says Resorts Demand Different Kind of Entertainment

New York, (AP)—The tastes of people who make the night life of New York change in and out so fast that those who provide the entertainment would survive through the years they must make humanity a subject of constant study.

This is a conclusion Sophie Tucker, internationally known night club artist, reached long ago. She believes its changeability was never more necessary than at present.

"When I came back from Paris and London last winter, after seven years absence from night life here, I found conditions entirely changed from what they used to be," she said.

"Would you think ballads would take with those who now frequent the clubs? Oh, no. They don't want any Little Gray Homes in the West songs."

WANT HOT SONGS

"Hot songs are what they demand and you've got to sing them if you want attention. I use a ballad now and then and whenever I do I always feel the attention of my listeners dropping away."

"I make a close study of the people in my place every night and before I begin singing try to meet as many as possible. I want to know them and I want them to know me. Then I know what to give them in the way of songs and other entertainment."

Miss Tucker is disappointed in New York's present night life. The fellowship and desire for real entertainment which she said existed in the days of the old Reisenweber club, now are missing.

"There's too much drinking now," she explained. "In fact, the chief thing appears to be the bottle and no one wants to quit until the bottle has been emptied."

The night life of Paris and London is on a higher basis from every point of view."

WHEN SMOKE LOOKS LIKE STEAM

In temperatures of 40 degrees below zero or more a wood fire in the open appears to give off steam rather than smoke. This method of telling how cold it is used by workmen in the far north countries when their mercury and spirit thermometers have become unreliable on account of the low temperature.

ARKANSAS DOES AWAY WITH NOTED "SLOW TRAINS"

Railroad Officials Say State Now Has as Fast Service as Any Other

Little Rock, Ark., (AP)—The historic "Slow Train through Arkansas" passed from the picture many years ago and the nation's departments of state railroads intend to keep it so.

The coming of heavier steel and well-built road beds brought the same transportation advance here as elsewhere and railroad officials say trains are no longer slower in Arkansas than in other states.

It was this and the fact that the promotion departments of the roads are endeavoring to show the world that Arkansas is not behind the times, that led to the dropping from the stocks of "news butchers" on at least one railroad of the old joke book bearing the slow train title.

There was a time when the slow train through Arkansas was a fact. In those days the equipment was light and often of the cast-off variety. Rails were light and roadbeds were poorly made. But today it is different. The Missouri Pacific runs some of the fastest trains on the main line from St. Louis to Texarkana and thence via the Texas and Pacific of El Paso. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific runs some of the fastest trains over its lines in the state, while the Cotton Belt and the St. Louis and San Francisco also have several speedy trains.

HAVE FAST TRAINS NOW
The Missouri Pacific and Rock Island run trains between Little Rock and Memphis, a distance of 150 miles, in three hours and twenty minutes. The Rock Island takes less than six hours for one of its fast trains from Hot Springs to Memphis, a distance of 185 miles, partly through mountains.

The Missouri Pacific operates a number of high class trains from St. Louis carrying tourists via the Southern route to California. One mail train makes an average speed through the state of forty miles an hour or better. A passenger train running from St. Louis to El Paso reaches the Arkansas-Texas border twelve hours and thirty-five minutes after leaving St. Louis 493 miles away. The fast western trains of the Rock Island make about the same time.

Railroad officials think it is time that the old slow train idea be laid away and that the news agency aided thereby baring the joke book from the trains.

KEICHER WILL TALK TO KAUKAUNA GROUP

A meeting of the Kaukauna district committee of the Valley Scout council will be held Thursday evening in the council chamber of the municipal building, Kaukauna. P. O. Keicher of this city, valley council executive, will report on conferences he has had recently with the Rev. Bishop Paul P. Rhende and Judge Henry Grass of Green Bay, relative to making the Green Bay district a part of the Valley council. Mr. Keicher's plan in adding the Green Bay troops would be to hire another executive who would take charge of the work of all the Catholic troops in the council while he would devote his time to all the Protestant troops.

MOVIE ACTRESSES CURL EYELASHES

Hollywood, Calif., (AP)—Instead of painting eyelashes now in Hollywood, they're curling 'em.

Anna Q. Nilsson thus explains the method: A little metal device is heated, clamped over the tips of the eyelashes and left to "sizzle" for a few moments. When released the lashes have a graceful, upward curve.

Dorothy Mackall passes the idea along to men who wear "sheik" mustaches with the suggestion that they drop waxing and use the eyelash curlers.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM RESIDENCE AT NEW LONDON

Home of Gust Rosse Is Burned to Ground Shortly Before Noon Monday

Fire, believed to have started from a defective chimney, razed the residence located on the Willowmore farm, operated by Gust Rosse and his son, Edward, and located about two and one-quarter miles north-east of New London, shortly after 10:30 Monday morning.

The loss, which is estimated at approximately $5,000, is partly covered by insurance. Most of the household goods were saved.

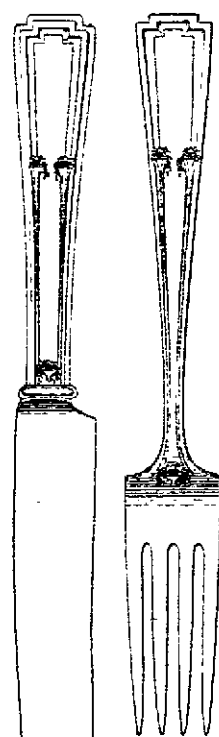

The fire was discovered in the attic above the kitchen by Mrs. Rosse about 10:30. She immediately called the New London fire department.

With the help of Mr. Rosse and his son, and several neighbors, almost all of the family's furniture and clothing was saved.

The men directed their efforts toward extinguishing the flames but the fire had gained great headway when discovered and the blaze increased in size. When the New London fire department arrived, the fire had secured such a start it was impossible to save the building.

Mr. Rosse and his son operate the Willowmore Guernsey milk route, delivering milk in New London and the immediate vicinity.

The WHIRLPOOL is everything a good washer should be — and then some. Our engineers vouch for this. They've tried it. The WHIRLPOOL had to demonstrate its ability to wash faster and better before we would offer it to the public. It succeeded in doing so and therefore has our unqualified indorsement. The WHIRLPOOL is fast and capable—washes 8 pounds of dry weight clothes beautifully in 5 minutes. It is compact — occupies only 24 inches floor space—will pass easily through a 24-inch doorway. And you can move it anywhere you want to on its big easy rolling casters. The WHIRLPOOL is a strikingly good looking washer, too. It is beautifully finished in French gray enamel. The tub is brightly burnished copper—stays bright—and as easy to wipe out as a dish. A washer you will, indeed, be proud to own.

LEGALIZING A STEAL

The house has passed the Rivers and Harbors Appropriation bill, including provision for improvement of the Illinois river. Through a process of log rolling by which the group immediately interested in the Illinois river project made deals with groups in other sections of the country, this item was retained in the general bill.

The lake states group put up a heroic fight against a measure which legalizes a diversion of more than 8,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, but it was beaten. If the bill is passed by the senate, it will mean legalization, so far as congress is able, of a steal of double the amount of water from Lake Michigan authorized by the war department. Furthermore, congress is authorizing this diversion for an altogether inferior waterway undertaking without so much as inquiring into the charges of the lake states that withdrawal of water by the city of Chicago is a major factor in the lowered lake levels that have resulted in critical injury to navigation and great economic losses to the largest shipping interests of America.

We do not know whether this iniquitous scheme can be put through the senate or not. It begins to look as though the politics of the country had degenerated to the point where it may be. If so, the lake states are without relief, unless the supreme court intervenes. It is hard to understand how congress can approve legislation in behalf of comparatively petty local interests, at the sacrifice of national interests of so important a character as embodied in the Great Lakes and all they mean to the economic, industrial and commercial life of the country.

INVITATION TO BANDITS

Two bandits walked into a bank at Black Creek at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and robbed that institution of $1950. They deposited their loot in an automobile conveniently at hand, drove off and have not been heard of since. They met with no interference whatever. What they did in Black Creek can be duplicated any day in the year in scores of country towns throughout Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin State Bankers association proposes to organize vigilantes to protect their institutions from such raids and to be prepared to meet banditry of any sort. Governor Blaine says this is an unwarranted interference with the prerogatives of the high sheriffs and the constituted authority of the state. He is opposed to giving the banks this self-created protection. Evidently the Chicago bandits heard what he said, and accepted his invitation to come over the line and try out Wisconsin police administration. It certainly would be playing into the hands of the capitalists to give our banks any more than the meager protection they now have.

WORKING FOR US

The greatest value of history lies in the ability to learn from the experiences of others and in that sense it is far from being "all bunk" as described by a famous automobile manufacturer.

Several of the nations of Europe in stepping out along theoretical lines as distinguished from practical ones have within recent years furnished results that should not be lost upon the rest of the world. Whether we agree with the experiments or not, the experiences of these nations furnish valuable data to guide our own actions.

The express and primary principle underlying the present Russian government is the arbitrary rule of but one class of people directed by self-chosen autocrats. Such principle is no different than that of the czarist government only that a different class is at the helm. The result must eventually be the same. Russia is not the first to try the experiment. France tried it a hundred and thirty-five years ago and sickened at the sight of the blood, the cruelties, the stark immorality and the inefficiency that resulted. Perhaps the greatest danger in the experiment is that after the people tire of it they will rush into the arms of any form of government which may as likely be as bad as the one whose yoke they destroy.

Italy has furnished a lesson to the world of a slightly different nature. There, following the war, liberty was given its most extreme meaning, socialism its greatest freedom of action. The result was a fearful lack of efficiency, starvation among the masses, misery and disorder. With the desire to be rid of the multitude of objectionable features of a government that talked and did nothing else, the Italian people rushed into the arms of a dictator who, if we overlook flamboyant speeches and kai-eristic sword clanking, has accomplished much for his nation. Almost his first edict was to discharge about forty thousand unnecessary employees which the socialists had foisted onto the national railway system of Italy which belongs to the government, and with the result that the Italian railways have improved in service without showing the tremendous deficit the government had formerly to make up through taxation of the general public. In fact if we forget the fact that it is run by a dictator through self-appointed assistants and with which the people themselves have nothing to do, Italy has improved in every phase of its national life.

England too has added to the world's store of knowledge in her recent general strike. She demonstrated quite clearly we believe that when economic conditions are bad, when there is little work and wages are low, a general strike, which usually results from some leaders losing their balance and their temper, never improves the situation. The strike also made plain the same result that developed in Boston a few years ago under somewhat similar circumstances,—and that is that the great mass of the people suffer most from such conditions. Some of the strike leaders tried to intercept and destroy food supplies. Little reckoning apparently that if they succeeded they were making it impossible for their own families to eat.

And now Poland is in trouble. From this distance it would seem that the strike there is caused by somewhat the same conditions that prevailed in Italy before the time of Mussolini, too many legislators talking of conditions they do not understand and continually parading before mirrors. Since Poland has been an independent nation she has spent more money each year than she has taken in. While a nation may do that for a time, such a condition cannot be carried very far. If that sort of a government is the result of freedom and independence the Polish people are probably looking for a strong leader and less freedom. The struggle of the Polish people through the centuries for the national existence to which they are so clearly entitled has stirred the sympathy and good will of the world.

The more that conditions in other civilized countries are studied, the more carefully the forms of government are investigated, the more certain comes the conclusion that disorder rarely if ever accomplishes anything, that the effort to align class against class is an injury to every class and that there are times when the word liberty is greatly misunderstood and as greatly abused.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Dragged and weary and sore at the feet, you're back from vacation again. You're nearing your home; it's a block down the street. You hustle to get there, and then—
Why, surely, this isn't the place where you live. The scenery is not quite the same. And then, when another once-over you give, you find what is really to blame.
The grass has grown long and the yard is unkempt; it's littered with papers and such. While you were away tender care has just slept; there's an absence of tidiness touch.
The porch is just covered with ad tressers' wares and the mail box is filled to the top. There's milk stacked galore on the old back porch stairs. The milkman was not told to stop.
Thus vacation's over and you have returned. What greeting! Alas and a lack. And yet all this clutter is readily spurned for despite it, you're glad to get back.

SUMMER MAY COME YET

It scarcely seems likely now, but if summer comes it will bring with it the need for extra care of the wrapper. Of course worn or broken portions of the cover may be renewed if necessary, but the new parts seldom fit or look as well as the original did, at least on old bodies, so you had better try to save the old wrapper.

The human hide hasn't a duco finish, though it is water proof when in perfect condition and is not injured or marred by dust or grime or by wiping off dust and grime or by washing with cool water, provided no strong soap or scouring agents be applied.

In summer not only the excretion of sweat but also the secretion of sebum, skin oil, is normally increased. Persons afflicted with dry skin find their wrapper looks and feels better in warm weather. Old skins generally are rather dry and respond kindly to warm weather or warmer climate. Young skins, on the other hand, are likely to be more troublesome in warm weather or in a warm climate, for a young skin is generally moist and oily enough if not a little too moist and a little too oily.

As a rule young persons should make rather free use of soap and water, which removes not only the dust and grime but also the excess of oil, and especially in the summer time. On the other hand, more mature persons should avoid soap and water as possible, especially soap, perhaps using some bland oil or freshly made cold cream instead of soap and water, particularly for the face, and especially in the winter time when the skin is driest and hardest.

The natural abundance of sebum or oil in the youthful skin is the reason why young persons should avoid also the use of creams or other oily or greasy cosmetics.

A common complaint in warm weather is "scalding," a rawness, redness and soreness which occurs where opposing skin surfaces make friction. The sweat is prevented from evaporating promptly, and the skin oil rapidly decomposes when no air reaches the skin surface, with the formation of irritating fatty acids, which help the retention of heat to macerate the epidermis, which is worn off by friction, leaving practically a raw, or a burned or scalded raw surface.

"Scalding" is the sensible name for it, but do not be alarmed if the doctor calls it eczema intertrigo. One subject to such scalding should gently cleanse the affected surfaces with warm water and soap twice daily, rinsing all the soap away with clear water, then drying without friction. If the skin is just reddened, but not yet macerated or raw, it should be freely sprinkled with plain talcum powder, or better zinc stearate powder, or with cornstarch powder.

If the skin is macerated or raw the powders should not be used. The raw surface requires more protective dressing, say with fresh zinc oxide ointment spread upon muslin. Of course the less activity the less friction while such a dressing is worn. In any case of scalding it is well to make use of every opportunity to permit the affected surface to be bathed by the air.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

No Sign of Tuberculosis

Is it always a sign of tuberculosis when the finger nails become rigid and brittle? Does a blood test always reveal what is wrong with a person? (G. B.)
Answer—That is not a sign of anything in particular. A blood test seldom shows what is wrong with a person, but various tests may give the doctor clues in his diagnostic examination.

Rice Powder And Sore Eyes

Do you think rice powder affects the eyes? Is it more injurious to the skin than ordinary face powder? What do you consider a harmless face powder? (Mrs. F. E. B.)

Answer—Rice powder is as harmless as any other for the skin. But the granules of rice powder are angular and if the powder is carelessly applied or applied with a powder puff some of the granules are likely to get into the eyes, become embedded in the conjunctival membrane and set up an obstinate conjunctivitis or red sore eyes.

Dear Rollo: "Cannibals of Liberia do not like to eat women. Female flesh is too bitter for them, says Lady Dorothy Mills, who recently traveled widely in the interior of Liberia," says an Associated Press dispatch. Does that convince you that beauty is only skin-deep? Maybe those "cannibals" are more cannibals than we, Rollo. They go to the bottom of things. But then, I'm told, that there are certain lipstick flavors that you don't like either?

Don Quinine

Dear Rollo: Why is the sea so close to the shore? Who picks up the pieces when day breaks? How high is up and how many nines are there?

Sincerely,
Kount Awff.

He Said:

I hereby give notice that my wife has left. My heart has been broken; I'm sadly bereft. I'll pay no bills that she may contract. It's a shame and disgrace the way she did act.

She Said:

Please excuse my husband he made a mistake. He left his wife and child and many a heartache. In the two years we've been married he bought me one dress. That cost 89 cents and some stockings for less. His poor heart is broken, he's sadly bereft. Don't trust him at all, if you do you'll get left.

If as some say, we will follow the same vocation in the next world we do in this, how about the ice man?

There was a funeral the other day out in Hot Dog, Ariz., and while the minister was reading the services, two shots were fired in the street outside.

The undertaker 'tipped forth. In a minute or so he was back with a smile on his face.

I secured both funerals, he whispered to the chief mourner.

The cost of marriage is whatever you pay the preacher plus your week's salary ever after.

Anytime a housewife feels as though she'd like to have someone drop in all she has to do, is let the housewife go and put on the oldest dress she has.

Elsie—Did you hear what Mrs. Simberg said about Rollo?

Alice—No I was in the other group talking about her.

"And remember, my son," said the father of the groom, "the early husband gets his own breakfast."

I suggest that the compensation of all congressmen be on a commission basis and that they be paid a percentage on what they save the tax payer.

ROLLO.

The Question Box

Anything, great or small, that concerns the people of a nation is properly within the province of that nation's government, and our Government deals with everything that affects the people. It maintains the most efficient and far reaching machinery of service that the world has ever seen. There is in Washington an authority of the first hand on practically every question touching the well being of humanity. There are magnificently equipped laboratories for the study of every problem of the nation's daily life. Our Washington Information Bureau is in a position to draw on these vast reservoirs of knowledge and let you benefit through them. All you need to do is to submit your questions and enclose two cents in stamps to cover the return postage. Address The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Why is pin money so-called? N. V. G.

The expression originally came from the allowance which a husband gave his wife to purchase pins. At one time pins were so expensive that only the wealthy could afford them. The manufacturers of pins were permitted to sell them only on January 1 and 2 of each year, and when those days came around the women whose husbands could afford it secured pin money from them and went out and got their pins.

Q. Why is Starved Rock so-called?

R. R. S.

A. Starved Rock is a high indented pinnacle between Utica and Ottawa, Illinois. Its name indicates the fate of the last of the Illinois Indians who were besieged by the Iroquois Indians until their supplies gave out.

Q. How can one obtain the glossy appearance in chocolate candy? F. R.

A. Chocolates derive their glossy appearance by careful control of their dipping temperature (about 80 degrees Fahrenheit) and quick cooling at 50 degrees to 65 degrees Fahrenheit in a relatively dry atmosphere.

Q. Is a gold certificate worth more than face value? A. R.

A. Gold certificates are receipts for actual deposits of gold in the Treasury and are redeemable in gold coin.

Q. Is the Southern Cross visible anywhere in Mexico? A. L. S.

A. On very clear nights, at the proper time of the year, a part at least of the Southern Cross may be seen from even the most northern part of Mexico.

Q. Are there two sides to a rainbow? T. C.

You can never see a rainbow unless you are between it and the sun. You could never see a rainbow if you were looking at the sun, so if you see one you may know that anyone on the other side of it could not see it because he would be looking at the sun.

Q. When was the umbrella invented? G. R.

A. Umbrellas are said to have been known as far back as the early days of Nineveh and Persopolis, for representations of them appear frequently in the sculptures of those early days. The women of ancient Rome and Greece carried them, but the men never did. Jonas Hanway, of London, is said to have been the first man who walked the streets of that city with an open umbrella over his head to keep off the rain. He is said to have used his umbrella for thirty years before umbrellas came into general use for that purpose.

LINCOLN AND THE MEXICAN WAR

Not long ago I heard a public speaker declare that the United States had never fought an unjust war. The same speaker a little later in the same address gave a character sketch of Lincoln describing him as almost more than human and as a man whose utterances had been divinely inspired.

And these two statements are often combined by public speakers in the same address. But one of the two cannot be true because Lincoln said flatly in public addresses, in letters, in conversation and in every other possible way that the United States invaded Mexico without just cause and fought an unjust war. Lincoln was serving a term in congress just at that time and he felt so deeply on the subject that he sacrificed his chances for re-election because he told his friends it would be dastardly cowardice not to speak out. The war was popular in Lincoln's district in Illinois, as a victorious war always is, and everybody who did not come out in favor of it was called a traitor. The Illinois State Register spoke of Lincoln as "a second Benedict Arnold."

OPPOSED MEXICAN WAR

The clearest account I have ever read of Lincoln's attitude toward the Mexican war is found in Carl Sandburg's new biography of Lincoln, "The Prairie Years." It leaves absolutely no doubt as to Lincoln's attitude. A congressman he voted for all the measures that were needed to fight the war, on the ground that the men in the field were not to blame for beginning the war and they must be fed and clothed, and provided with ammunition. But every chance he got he voted against expressions of confidence in the administration that began and that was waging the war, and in public addresses he declared again and again that it was an unjust war.

Lincoln was the only Whig congressman from the whole state of Illinois and the administration was Democratic. He took his political life into his hands when he spoke and wrote in opposition to a popular war as if during America's participation in the World War a single congressman from a single state should have placed himself in opposition to a war even though his constituents at home were enthusiastically for it. Such a congressman would have been in danger of being mobbed and he would have been certain to be retired to private life.

And that happened to Lincoln—no the mobbing part of it but the retirement to private life. Even his last partner Herndon was bitter against him because of his attitude toward the war. Nearly every man in Lincoln's district and in the whole of Illinois for that matter wanted him to shout "Hip Hurray!" and to be back to the war with every ounce of his power. If he had done that nothing could have defeated him for re-election to congress. And at that time it must have seemed to Lincoln that defeat after his first term in congress meant the end of him politically. It looked like political disaster.

LINCOLN WAS EXCEPTION

Many a man under such circumstances would have adjourned his own conscience and would have looked around for good arguments in favor of the war. Moreover, it is not easy for a man who loves his country to say publicly that his country is in the wrong in any given war. There are even today many who regard it a treason to make a statement during any war in which their country may be engaged. And such people will often hold up Lincoln as the ideal American and still cling to the view that a citizen has no right to express disagreement with his country's policy in war time.

Lincoln knew the full cost of his attitude but he went through with it. And he paid for it too. So bitter was the feeling of his district that he did not even stand for re-election knowing that he had no chance. It is customary for the people of a country to be certain that their country was right in any given war. Only the rare person, like Lincoln, ever dares to disagree with the masses' opinion of a whole people.

LITTLE SOIL, NOT TILLED

In Guatemala and Salvador, the two most populous countries in Central America, the population is so dense that there is very little waste land. Guatemala has 2,000,000 people and Salvador with an area of only 7,222 square miles, 1,040,000 or 114 persons to the square mile. This is the densest population in the Western Hemisphere. These countries are rich in sugar, coffee, minerals, rice, hemp, cotton and bananas.

Old Materials Revived In Sport Dress

New sports dresses which are for the most part executed in beige or pastel shaded woolen fabrics have short skirts and high waists, which are sometimes indicated at the back only by a bolero. These suits generally consist of a 2-piece over which is worn a full length coat. Sometimes a new effect is obtained by the addition of a waistcoat, which trims a plain frock or is worn attached to a long coat. This waistcoat is generally executed in a patterned silk or striped woolen fabric and is the most important of the season's details. It is sleeveless and cut right open on the sides where it fastens with a single button. When it is attached to the coat, it is non-existent at the back starting only from the sides of the front as was the case in a very successful peach colored kasha model, which consisted of a straight dress and coat widened by pleats and a plaid waistcoat.

LONG COATED ENSEMBLE
The sports dresses generally have plain bodices sometimes trimmed with a pleat and a skirt widened by pleats. The sports ensembles have for the most part the long coat and straight skirt made of the same fabric whereas the sweater is executed in another but nevertheless woolen material. Sometimes the sweater is made to appear to be in another fabric by being trimmed with stitching as was the case in a pale blue woolen costume where the entire blousing sweater was trimmed with rows of white stitching placed so close together as to make it contrast very definitely with the coat and skirt.

The most current form of the afternoon ensemble consists of a long velvet, crepe, silk rep or moire coat entirely lined with white and worn over a long white tunic placed over a narrow slip which matches the coat. The tunic is also seen variously repeated in colors matching the slip and in such cases it was shorter than the white ones and has more fullness on the sides.

FASHION OF FRINGE

The dressier afternoon frocks being introduced by French houses for early fall are of two kinds. The first comprises those made in crepe satin, velvet or moire (a fabric which is re-appearing again and seems as though it will be favored in the coming season. These dresses are rather severe of cut and those made in crepe satin are very often in black trimmed with white. The flatter dresses, however, are made in paler shades such as beige and gray, of crepe georgette, and are trimmed with matching lace. Their bodices often blouse at the back and the fullness of the skirts, which is obtained by semi-detached panels, is placed in front. The smartest of these afternoon frocks was made in black crepe de chine and had a bolero bordered like the skirt with a black silk fringe which is so much the fashion now.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Bender and son, Julian, 525 N. Union-st. left Monday for Berry Lake where they will spend the summer.

GIVE DIPLOMAS TO 213 GRADS OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Commencement Program Is Held in Senior High School Here

"Be upright and honest and the world will repay you, perhaps not in money, but in kindness and love which, after all, is the big thing in life." Superintendent A. G. McFarland said in his commencement address before graduates of Outagamie county rural schools at the senior high school Saturday afternoon. The class, composed of 213 and approximately 500 friends and relatives attended the exercises.

Mr. McFarland told the graduates that they were just about to get started in life and that the diploma a teacher would take them wherever they chose to go. They should set the destination, he said, and then start to get there by working as hard as possible.

"The next five years of your life will determine, in most cases, what and who you will be when you are men and women," he said, "and by getting more education and always working hard and doing the things that are right, you are bound to succeed in life."

SIoux INDIANS DON'T KNOW HOW TO CUSS

Aberdeen, S. D., (AP)—Blasphemous and profane speech is impossible in the language of the Dakota Sioux Indians.

Reasons for the discrepancy are hazy, even to Dr. E. Ashley, Episcopal missionary among the Sioux for fifty-two years and an authority on their life and language. He points to the tribe name, Dakota, which means "Friendly Peoples."

"Perhaps the life of the tribe flowed so smoothly, and they offered so little resistance to its course, that no need for profanity existed," he says.

The reputed stoicism of the red man and his silence in stalking game or making war do not explain the absence of profanity from the tongue, Dr. Ashley declares.

"The Indian is not a stoic when you come to know him, and perhaps he substituted blood-curdling yells for other vocal methods of easing his pent up feelings."

HOTEL MAN GETS WRIT TO PREVENT FURNITURE SALE

Kaukauna Man Secures Injunction Against Chicago Company

A temporary injunction restraining the sale of furniture and fixtures of the Congress hotel at Kaukauna, by Albert Pick and Co., Chicago restaurant furnishing concern, was granted Friday afternoon by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court, who also ordered a bond for $5,000 to safeguard the injunction.

In April the Chicago concern arranged for a foreclosure sale of the hotel fixtures which were purchased from it by Andrew Scowley, manager of the Congress hotel. Mr. Scowley gave a chattel mortgage and several promissory notes in payment, and because the latter were not paid at the time specified in the contract, Albert Pick and Co. took steps to foreclose the chattel mortgage.

AGREEMENT VIOLATED

Mr. Scowley alleges that the Chicago company sent only a part of the equipment he ordered and that some of the furniture sent was different than that which he ordered. It is also alleged by Mr. Scowley that the agreement provided that credits and deduction should be allowed him for any part of the order which Albert Pick and Co. failed to fill, and that this part of the agreement has not been fulfilled.

A suit for $25,000 damages has also been brought against the Chicago company by Mr. Scowley, who alleges that this business was injured when the company closed the Congress hotel cafe for several days for alleged non-payment for the fixtures. Scowley secured a restraining or-

The boy was turned over to Neenah police.

GERMAN FOLLIES AROUSE INTEREST

Berlin, (AP)—The German capital at last has a revue in which the chorus is not labeled with the English word "girls," but with the German equivalent "madel."

The German Follies has aroused much comment for other reasons. The show, Dolmets Deutsche Madel, is advertised as a take-off on rhythmic gymnastics, revealing the "beauty of the feminine form" and answering the questions: How can I stay young? How can I be beautiful?

Cannon of this city, is Mr. Scowley's attorney, while C. A. Carlson, Chicago, is representing the company. Although no date has been set, it is expected that the suit will come up for trial within the next month.

NOTICE CITY WATER USERS

On account of water conditions many people are compelled to use city water for washing and are inconvenienced because of its hardness.

To overcome this add one teaspoonful of Rub-No-More Washing Powder (the Original So Water Softener) to each gallon of city water. IT SAVES SOAP.

Besides its 15 household usages it is the only cleanser that will clean sinks and tubs and dissolve upon rinsing. No sand left to clog drain pipes, adv.

Learn the greatest joy of music—the joy of singing to music you play yourselves.

The Gulbransen has made this possible—even though you cannot read a note of music.

The Gulbransen plays by roll. Yet you control its playing. You can accompany voices or other instruments, play fast or slow, accent melody and harmony notes. You can hush the music to a whisper, or release the clear, sweet tones in brilliant volume. It is simple and easy.

You can, in a word, do anything that you could do if you played by hand. This is true of the Gulbransen alone—the only piano of its kind in the world.

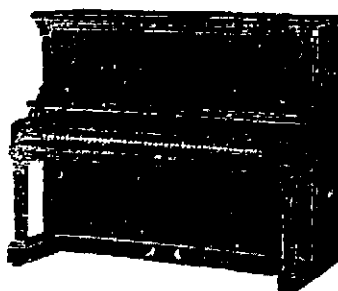

As advertised in The Saturday Evening Post

What Do You Think of the Home Without a Piano?

Lacking in something very necessary, isn't it? Modern homes have pianos. The piano is recognized by the American people as the basic musical instrument, the instrument of greatest satisfaction and pleasure, as an investment of permanence. Ownership of a fine piano is a mark of culture. A piano is the tie that helps to bind the family together—makes home life attractive.

Gulbransen Pianos are of all types. Upright and Grand Pianos, for hand-playing; extra small upright for small apartments; Upright and Grand Registering Pianos for playing by hand and roll.

HURRY REPAIRS ON DRAWBRIDGE NEAR KIMBERLY

Draw May Not Be Replaced Until Navigation Is Closed Next Fall

Repairs on the Kimberly drawbridge, which was damaged some time ago in a storm, are being rushed by the Northern Boiler and Structural Iron Works. According to Edward Koepke, engineer of the company, the work will be completed within three weeks. Some of the repairs are being made on parts of the bridge on the south shore of the river and several girders are being repaired at the plant on S. Oneida-st.

It is doubtful whether the government will allow navigation to be closed for two days to allow replacing of the bridge, according to A. F. Everett, United States engineer at the local office. If either Cook and Brown or the Fox River Navigation company, the two users of the Fox River for commercial purposes, object to the closing, then replacing of the draw will have to wait until the close of navigation in fall. The decision will be made by the War department office at Milwaukee.

At present people wishing to get to Kimberly from the north shore of the river are obliged to travel to Little Chute and cross the Little Chute

HAESSLY BIRD WINS LONG RACE IN MINNESOTA

Pigeon Times in Just 22 Seconds Ahead of Second Place Winner

Kaukauna—A pigeon belonging to Leo Haessly won first place in the Kaukauna Pigeon club race Sunday from Jackson, S. D., about 400 miles. The birds were released at 5 o'clock in the morning by the expressman at Jackson and the first bird timed in at 12:24:23 Sunday noon. Actual flying time was about 7 hours and 24 minutes. This is considered good speed for the birds. They had a favorable west wind to fly with, but encountered numerous storms enroute here. A bird belonging to Robert Bernard timed in just 22 seconds later and 19 seconds after that a bird belonging to Roland of Appleton timed in. Prizes were awarded for first, second and third places. The Kaukauna members of the club had a five and a half minute handicap over Roland and six over Frank Van Agtmael.

The big race of the season will be flown on Saturday, June 19, from Mitchell, S. D. about 500 miles. The birds will be shipped Wednesday, June 16.

Several birds were lost in Sunday's race. Only twenty-three birds were shipped to Jackson because of the big loss suffered by club members the preceding Sunday.

OLD STOCK FAIR TO BE REVIVED

Farmers and Businessmen Will Hold Opening Affair Tuesday, June 22

New London—Farmers and merchants will cooperate on Tuesday, June 22, to revive the old stock fair days in New London. On this day the first stock fair which has been held in the city for a number of years will take place, and probably once monthly thereafter. The purpose of the stock fair is to hold a regular get-together for farmers and merchants. Elaborate programs will be worked, including horse races, contests, band concerts and auctions.

Business men have appointed committees to arrange for the first event. They are: Advertising, E. L. Reuter, J. Hickey, Jr., E. F. Ramm, and J. H. Vandenberg; soliciting, F. Jennings, Guy Blouney, and L. Cline; mailing, H. B. Cristy.

New London—Several arrests are expected to follow the investigation of a number of dog poisoning cases here, according to the police. This practice was begun last week, chiefly in the eastern section of the city where various eatables, said to be dosed liberally with strychnine, are being thrown out where dogs find them. Several valuable dogs have been killed in this manner, and their owners state they are aware of the identity of several of those who committed offenses. Such persons are subject to a state prison sentence, the police said.

A pet dog, owned by August Viel, left its owner's home Sunday morning, and returned four minutes later in a fit, caused by poison. He was taken to a doctor, but soon died. The dog was regarded as priceless by its owner, as it was an army mascot, having gone through the World War in the service. Mr. Viel has offered a reward of $25 for anyone who will secure sufficient evidence for the conviction of the guilty party. This is the last instance of a number of such cases.

SUNDAY BALLGAME IS POSTPONED BY RAIN

New London—On account of rain, the baseball game between the local club and that of Stevens Point, which was to have been played at the local park Sunday afternoon, was called off. The shower began just before the game started. It will probably be played during the near future.

"PIGS"

During its forty-one weeks' run at the Little Theatre, New York, and six months at the Cort Theatre, Chicago, "Pigs" was frequently cited as an example of clean, wholesome entertainment in the theatre that lacked none of the exhilarating qualities of the sa-lacious farce or the girl-and-music, tired-business-man type of play with which the stage is surfeited. John Golden, producer of "Pigs," has devoted his activities to clean plays for the past ten years but has frequently stated that the public will not patronize the boxoffice simply because a play is clean. It is in the combination of wholesomeness with sparkling humor, romance and ingenious construction that the elusive element of public appeal is attained and the success of "Pigs" is due.

"The First Year," "The First Year," "The First Year," and the other Golden hits seems to prove the producer's contention. "Pigs" comes to the Appleton Theatre, Wednesday, June 9th, with Wallace Ford, Nydia Westman, May Buckley, Maude Granger, George Henry Trader, Philip Harrison and the complete New York cast.

Don't Lag Along Road, Is Cops' Advice To Motorists

Outagamie-co. motorcycle officers have other duties besides watching for speeders, reckless drivers and those who have failed to provide their automobiles with licenses. It was pointed out at the office of the county highway commissioner during heavy traffic on Sundays and holidays they must be alert for laggers who endanger the safety of other motorists by slow driving.

At a state meeting of county motorcycle officers recently held at Fond du Lac it was decided that the lagging driver is almost as great a menace as the speeder and officers were asked to cooperate in speeding them up. Between twenty-five and forty miles an hour is the desired speed when roads are crowded it was pointed out.

The driver who travels less than twenty-five miles an hour holds up other traffic and almost invariably causes inconvenience and trouble. For one thing it encourages the individual who darts in and out between the cars ahead of him. Often he attempts to slide in ahead of another car too late, just as an automobile from the opposite direction shoots past and a wreck results.

When a long line is being held up by some slow driver motorcycle officers point out, it is aggravating to be forced to drag along but the driver who dodges in and out of the procession makes little headway and endangers the lives of many.

The road hog driver is one of the oldest and most troublesome problems to officer and motorist. This driver hugs the black line separating the right and left sides of the road, and often goes beyond the line thus crowding other drivers off of the concrete.

With the wide roads of today both motorists and officers point out there is no necessity for driving on the left side of the line and the motorist who does so is imperiling traffic and his own safety.

"One-eyed automobiles" or those which travel at night with only one headlight in working order are another menace that constantly endangers lives. Outagamie-co. officers declare. The only excuse for one light is where trouble occurs on the road at a distance from a garage. Repairs must be made as soon as possible as there is nothing more misleading to drivers of other automobiles on a dark night.

WEED GROWERS WON'T RECEIVE NOTICES NOW

Under a new state law if no longer is necessary for the street department to serve notice on individual firms or corporations which permit weeds to flourish on their premises. According to the new law a notice shall be published in the press instructing all persons to cut weeds on their premises and failure to comply with the law will mean that the weeds will be cut by the city and charges will be collected from the property owners in personal taxes. The law also permits authorities to start criminal action against offenders in court. When the old law was still in force the department had to serve notices on property owners.

Small loaf or a pound loaf of wheat or rye bread may be purchased for 2 cents. Whole wheat and graham bread sells at 15 cents for a pound and a half loaf and 10 cents for a one pound loaf.

Although the flour market has been fluctuating a little the past week, according to Appleton bakers there would have to be a serious rise in the price of flour before bread prices in Appleton would increase. According to one dealer ripening of the wheat crop will cause a change in the price of flour but as yet there are no indications as to which way the price will go.

What bread is selling at 13 cents for a pound and a half loaf and the bread sells for the same price. A

BOYD TO SPEAK AT T. B. CONFERENCE

Be sure to get real Resinol

If you want to get rid of eczema, pimples or some other distressing skin eruption, insist upon obtaining Resinol Ointment in the original package. It is put up in opal jars, two sizes only—3 1/4 oz. and 1 1/2 oz. Preparations similar in name or appearance and those offered as or for Resinol are not "just the same as Resinol." Many of them have little healing power, and may even be dangerous to use.

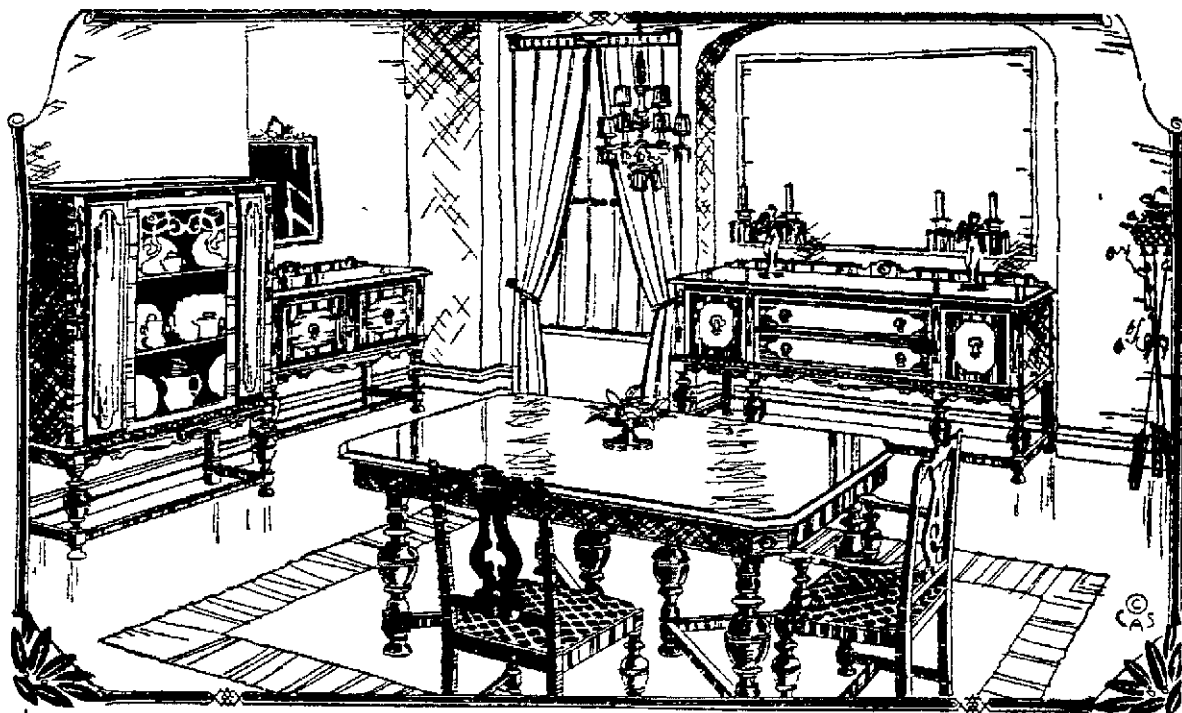

Resinol is never sold in bulk

"A Splendid Idea!"

"I hope you don't mind if I have an outfit just like yours! A Fair Store all-wool bathing-suit, and a Fair Store slicker to use for a beach coat. Of course, on rainy days you use the slicker for a rain-coat."

"I like that Fair Store slicker so much, not only because it is of sturdy materials and well-made, but also because it is reversible, and you have two slickers for the price of one. If you get tired of wearing it as a plaid slicker you just turn it inside out and presto — you have a plain-colored slicker!"

"And I like your Fair Store bathing-suit because it is a corking value and awfully good-looking, but principally because it fits you so splendidly. I'm going to the Fair Store and see if they can furnish me a bathing suit that will fit me as well as yours fits you!"

"Know How"

That's why the De Bauffer Oil Co. was the first station in the city to install and operate modern day Greasing Racks and put attendants in charge of them, who know their business.

That's why owners bring their cars to De Bauffer's to be greased and oiled. That's why De Bauffer's Greasing Racks are always busy—because De Bauffer men know how to grease and oil a car. It isn't the usual, "Maybe we got the grease in there and maybe we didn't" style—A car leaves the De Bauffer Racks with grease and oil in every part and place in your car that requires grease and oil.

That's another big feature of De Bauffer Service — "KNOWING HOW."

PRINCESS SHOPS FOR CLOTHES FOR U. S. TRIP

London — (AP) — Anticipating her forthcoming visit to America, the Crown Princess of Sweden is doing much shopping here.

In Sweden it is not the vogue to wear elaborate attire and a visit to the United States demands something different than Sweden offers. The Crown Princess, with her young sisters-in-law, the Marchioness of Milford Haven and Lady Louis Mountbatten, therefore have spent a good deal of time in the various select modistes' establishments of London.

HUSKIES BOAST GIANT OARSMEN

U. of Washington Crew Will Make Strong Bid for First Place at Poughkeepsie

Seattle — (AP) — The University of Washington, Pacific Coast intercollegiate champion for the fifth consecutive season, approaches the national academic regatta on the Hudson this year with a crew of giants.

The varsity crew that defeated the University of California as the climax to a clean sweep on Lake Washington this spring consists of the tallest men, says their coach, Russell S. Calow, who ever propelled a college boat. This eight averages six feet three inches in height, and 176 pounds in weight. Three of the men are six feet five inches tall, and the shortest oarsman in the boat, Captain Al Ulbrickson, stroke, is six feet one. Even the coxswain, Art Wuthenow, is five feet eleven inches tall, though he weighs only 120 pounds.

The Huskies, who last year at Poughkeepsie won the intercollegiate junior varsity title while the varsity lost the championship to the Naval Academy after capturing it two seasons in succession, have a junior varsity shell averaging six feet one inch in height. These "Jayvee" carsmen outweight the varsity by an average of one pound, averaging 177. The junior varsity coxswain, Francis Blethen, tips the scales at 116. He is five feet ten inches tall.

Washington's triple California conquest was completed by a freshman crew averaging six feet one inch in height and 180 pounds in weight, running four pounds heavier than the varsity boat.

All the Husky strokes who appeared against the Golden Bears are married.

EUROPEAN WOMEN PAINTS CHINESE

Shanghai — (AP) — Mrs. R. N. MacLeod, sister of Admiral Sir Arthur Leveson and wife of a prominent Shanghai barrister, is the only European artist who has a studio in this city. Mrs. MacLeod has specialized in Chinese sketches and Chinese portraits and has persuaded many prominent Chinese to sit for her.

This is rather difficult in the case of old-fashioned Chinese, as they are not especially sympathetic with western methods of painting. The old-fashioned Chinese thought that all portraits should be painted with a full front view and without shadows indicating the disposition of light.

GROCCERS TRIM CARS AS BAND PLAYS CONCERT

Merchants Make Elaborate
Preparations for Annual Outing

The 120th Field Artillery band, under the direction of Edward Mumm, will give a concert from 8 o'clock to 8:30 next Wednesday morning while wholesale and retail grocers are decorating their automobiles with streamers and banners to take their place in the motorcade to the annual inter-city stag outing at Sherwood Forest resort, Green Lake.

Grocers are to assemble at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at N. Oneida and W. Washington-sts. where they will receive banners and streamers to decorate their automobiles. Each car will be given a number which will designate its place in the motorcade. A motorcycle policeman is to lead the way, followed by the band on a large decorated truck.

The grocers will stop five minutes at Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh, Omro, Berlin and Green Bay, where the band will play one selection. Dinner will be served in the main dining room of the hotel at Green Lake at 11 o'clock.

In the afternoon, a baseball game between the wholesalers and retailers will be one of the features of the program. "Barryard golf," tug-of-war, fat men's race, three legged and sack race and four 3-round boxing bouts are some of the other features. A running race will be held between Peter Thass of Appleton and Michael Jacobs, and William Rader of Kaukauna and George Berman of Appleton will compete in a fat man's race.

The grocers will be taken on a boat ride around Green Lake at 4 o'clock and at 5 o'clock supper will be served at the hotel. After the supper a "kangaroo court" will be featured. H. J. Ingold of the Shannon Co. will preside as judge.

What is believed to have been the first known book on seamanship and nautical practices was published in 1626 by Captain John Smith, the historian of Virginia and hero in the now famous Pocahontas story. Many of the facts therein laid out are applicable and fundamental today.

NO SHINGLES OR SHORT SKIRTS IN ARTISTS' EXHIBIT

Parisian Women Are Unable to Find Flapper Styles in Art Display

Paris — (AP) — Parisian women were quick to observe that not one shingle coiffure or short skirt ala 1926 is to be found in this year's exhibition of the Society of French Artists and the Beaux Arts.

A few discreet bobs, softly curled or classically straight, are the sole recognition of the mannish trend. The only short skirts exhibited are on little girls, or at tennis courts. The portraits of women of fashion follow the general rule of art before style. The newspaper "Commoedia," commenting on these portraits, says they are of two classes, those with pearls and those without.

A canvas called "The Amazons," painted by Robert Puzoson, a Frenchman, promises to be the storm center of this salon. It depicts three richly tanned young women against the background of a dapple grey horse. One of the women wears only a grey

WOMAN WINS MEDICAL OFFICE IN DUBLIN

Dublin — (AP) — Miss Alice Lema has beaten all the men contestants for the position of resident medical officer of the Dublin Poor Law Union, which cares for more than 3,000 old folks. This office heretofore has been administered by men.

Dublin was the first city in the British Isles to confer full university degrees upon women, and as a consequence nearly all professions now contain women competing on even terms with men.

OPEN BEAUTY PARLOR FOR LONDON CANINES

London — (AP) — Pet dogs of the middle and working classes are to have their "beauty parlors" and will be "treated" just like those of the rich folk who can afford to keep servants especially for the job. Two young girls in the Sloane Square district have opened an establishment where for a small fee any dog can be groomed, bathed, manicured and generally made to look as smart as his Mayfair canine cousins.

glove. Another, nude from the waist up, wears a black derby and voluminous riding skirt. The canvas, many visitors to the salon protest, is not fair to the modern sportswoman.

What makes jelly jell?

Fruits contain, in varying amounts, both sugar and a certain jellifying substance, but no fruit contains enough of either to jelly all of its juice.

That is why you used to have to "boil your fruit down," or concentrate it, until it had lost a large amount of its juice—and unfortunately much of its fine fresh flavor and beautiful color as well.

But now you can add jellifying substance as readily as you add sugar to your fruit. For Certo is the jellifying element of fruit—refined and bottled for your convenient use. With Certo only one or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect tender jelly. You cannot have a failure, and your jelly retains the delicate, luscious flavor of the fresh fruit and its bright, natural color.

A book of simple, tested recipes comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 30c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. MINISTER URGES FALCONS LOSE 2 GRADUATES TO BE WEEKEND GAMES GOOD CHRISTIANS

Baccalaureate Preacher Tells Seniors World Getting Better

Menasha—In his baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of Menasha high school Sunday night, the Rev. John Best, pastor of the Congregational church, made a plea for a better type of Christian citizenship and expressed a wish that members of the class bind themselves to serve for this purpose.

The services were held in the public library auditorium before a capacity crowd of the high school Sunday night. A feature of the program was two selections by the girls glee club of the high school under the direction of Miss Irene Schmidt.

The times are different," said the speaker, "than what they used to be. Your parents have told you that. The girls are not what they used to be. Of course not, they are a whole lot better. I wish you would show your parents that the modern young man or woman is equal if not superior to any that preceded them.

The city of Menasha has made a great investment in you young people. Mr. Plenzke will tell you what the investment is. I don't know. Are you worthy of the investment we have made? The sacrifice we have made for your education is a great sacrifice. I know what it means to keep one or two or three boys and girls in school. Parents are glad to do it for you because they believe in you.

As to the association you have had for the last four years—you have been associated with books and literature to say nothing of the personal contact you have had with each other and your teachers. The teachers have tried to impress you with their high ideals.

STEP AFTER STEP

"You are graduating tonight. From what? The Neenah high school, a goal that many of America's youth are striving for. You will never forget it, and you ought not to. It is a very important milestone in your life, not so very different from many others that you have passed. In choosing your class motto—"Step by Step," I wonder how far back in your lives you considered the truth of it. Your life from birth has developed steps; as it will continue to develop. One step at a time, and here is a significant fact, that as you have taken each step up and forward, you left behind the old step. Each step has had its own sharp edges, its hard knobs, its slippery places over which you have perhaps stumbled, but the fact that you are here tonight, finishing with more or less of triumph your high school course, is more or less indicative of the fact that you have conquered the forces that have been set to discourage and defeat you in the past. Of course you have stumbled and fallen by the wayside at times, but it has been only the fall, you have arisen and continued the struggle until you have won, and tonight you are rejoicing over the victories.

"Again in your lives that time has come for you to leave the old step and move up and on. You are leaving behind much of the joy and satisfaction that has been yours during the past four years. You are taking with you the inspirations and sweet memories to help you on the rest of the way.

"In thinking of your future one cannot help but wonder what it will be. You, of course are looking ahead with great expectations.

In closing Mr. Gibson stated that you must know God and God's son. In this rocky world, with civilization peeling her thin veneer, the only mighty fortress is God. And here faith and knowledge blend. Faith faith is ultimate good because of an unyielding God, is the victory that overcomes the world. Anchor your lives here."

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

ERNEST LYNN, AUTHOR OF THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Largely because the advertising agency of GRAHAM AND MILBURN has just landed an important new contract, JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, buy a new house.

John Milburn, a romantic, impractical individual, is a partner in the agency and does all of its copy writing.

Previous chapters tell how John, while Fay was in the hospital, had accepted an invitation from PAT FORBES, a married man with three children, to attend a swimming party. There he met NELLORE and was attracted by her beauty. Pat Forbes tells him Nell is having trouble with her husband and her hints that he is somewhat satisfied with his own marriage.

To John, who has been married only two years, this is a little hard to understand. He refuses an invitation from a friend of his, PAUL DAVIDSON, a lawyer, amateur actor and liberal, to go on a wild party.

DR. RICHARD MENEFEE, John's best friend, and his fiancée, Margaret Wayne, are the first visitors at the new home, and they play bridge. After they go Fay sends John for some miscellany on his part and then tells him she has something on her mind.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

CHAPTER XI

Now Fay said John "don't bawl out any more. I'm sorry if I'm in a bit of a fix. I'd forgotten all about that." Fay parked still gazing at the lamp. What I had in mind was a house warming.

A what? A housewarming. We've been here three days now. As soon as we get actually settled and all straightened up, we must give a party. It's always done, you know, when a family buys a new house.

No, I didn't know it," said John stubbornly.

"Well, you know it now."

"I'm for a party, anyway," he laughed. "Where're we going to invite? There's Dick and Margaret, of course."

"And Clara Wayne," put in Fay. "We can't ask Margaret and not invite her sister. Whom shall we invite for her?"

"Why not Nat Graham?" suggested John.

"Oh, I don't think Clara is crazy about Nat."

"Well, how about Paul Davidson then? If Paul doesn't think the party too tame for him."

And so they talked far into the night selecting the guests for their housewarming.

Invitations were duly mailed to Pat and Marian Forbes, Noel and Vera Boyd, Margaret and Clara Wayne, Dick Menefee, Nat Graham, Paul Davidson and Eleanor Mason.

A close friend of the Boyds whom Fay invited as a "partner" for Nat Graham and the eventful day arrived.

Now you won't forget those candy mints, will you?" Fay reminded John at breakfast. "I want you to get them at Rankin's, they have the best in the town."

"I'll get 'em all right. Never fear."

"Well, you know how unimportant you are when I want you to do something for me downtown."

"I'll get 'em," said John doggedly, his mouth full of toast. "Whod care anyway, even if I did forget 'em? What difference does it make to a party whether you have mints or not? Now, if it was ice cream or ham or salad dressing it would be different. But mints—humph!" He snorted to show his contempt for such trivialities.

He went out in the hall and got his hat. Returning, he said "Or if it was liquor—that's the really important thing at a party these days. You can bet your bottom dollar I won't forget that." He turned to go out.

John, don't you forget those mints," Fay called after him as he went out the back door. She threw up her hands in resignation after gazing at his tall figure swinging down the walk to the garage.

Just before lunch Fay called him up to ask him not to forget the mints.

"I won't," he assured her. "I'll get them on my lunch hour."

But he didn't. At three o'clock Fay called again and he felt guilty.

"Sure, I got 'em," he lied, and as soon as he could hang up the receiver he grabbed his hat and went out to get them.

But he hadn't forgotten the gin. There was a gallon bottle of it at his feet as he drove home.

Dick Menefee and Margaret and Clara Wayne arrived shortly after eight o'clock and Nat Graham arrived shortly after. Everyone else was late and the Noel Boyds were later.

John was in his element as the genial host. There were few introductions necessary for most of the guests already were acquainted but those few he made with a flourish.

When the Boyds arrived after nine o'clock he stood them up in the hall way and, striking a pose, announced:

"Attend everyone. This is the late Mr. Boyd and his wife."

"I refuse to laugh at that one," said Boyd with his set smile. "It came out of the ark." He was a fair-haired man with squinting eyes and a laugh that was at times hearty and at times a sneer. You never knew which kind you were going to evoke from Noel Boyd.

Vera his wife was black-haired and silent with smoldering dark eyes.

"I must say for John," remarked Paul Davidson dryly, "that he does the honors with all the flourishes of a big butter and egg man." He was tapping a cigaret against his elegant gold case.

I wanted you to feel at home, Paul," John retorted. Vera Boyd caught Davidson's eye and the latter handed her a cigaret and lit it for her. She inhaled deeply, closing her eyes as she expelled the smoke from her mouth.

Cigarettes were passed around among the other women. Clara and Margaret Wayne smoked expertly. Marian Forbes clumsily and Fay after one puff laid hers down.

I want one of yours, Paul," Eleanor Mason said shaking her blond bobbed hair as John offered her the cigaret box.

"Wint 'em strong eh?" he laughed.

I've got cigars if you'd rather have them, Eleanor," laughed John and retreated to the kitchen. Eleanor's reply, "I might like you up, at that," ringing after him.

In the kitchen, gleaming with fresh white paint and linoleum, he busied himself with lemons, mineral water cracked ice and gin. Fifteen minutes later he emerged, bearing a tray.

"Get the ladies this trip," he announced. "Marian—she paused in front of Marian Forbes—aye a pinch!" He made the rounds of the women elaborately serving each one with a tall glass.

Now for the men," he announced, retreating once more to the kitchen. "Hold on!" cried Eleanor Mason. "I'm suspicious. Are the men's any more authoritative?"

"Not a bit of difference, Eleanor," he returned. "The tray just carries six glasses—that's all."

But he winked at Pat Forbes as he disappeared through the door.

"Now then gents," he invited as he returned once more bearing the tray. "Just step up to the bar and help yourselves."

Not bad," said Paul Davidson, compressing his lips.

"Nat," said John, pausing in front of Graham.

"No thanks, John," Nat lifted his hand.

"I'll take it," Eleanor Mason shipped up beside Nat and reached out her hand. "I see you and I are going to get along famously," she said to Graham. "I'm in luck, she proclaimed to the crowd. "My gentleman friend doesn't drink. Then, "Oh, gosh! This is strong John Milburn."

Graham laughed. "You're welcome to my share. I'm sure," he said, and John looked at him a little uneasily, thinking he detected disapproval of Eleanor in Nat's manner.

Pat Forbes set his glass back on the tray. "Great John. I don't know whether it's the gin or the bartender but it's the best I've tasted for a long time."

"The bartender is modest enough," returned John, "to give the credit to the gin. The gin," he added, "ought to be good. I saw it made this afternoon."

"Wow," exclaimed Dick Menefee. "That's frankness for you. Noel Boyd eyed his glass suspiciously. His lip curling. It's had four or five hours, to age, he said slowly. So it ought to be pretty mel-low. Imagine keeping gin that long."

"Shut up, Noel, and don't be sarcastic," retorted John. "How about a dividend?" he asked. "I'm coming around again boys and girls."

"Oh, well," said Forbes, if you insist."

"How about you, Noel?" asked John. "Will you consent?"

"Oh, well," shrugged Boyd, "I suppose I ought."

John looked inquiringly at the women, but they all held up protesting hands—all save Eleanor Mason and she was still engaged with the glass she had got from Nat Graham.

Paul Davidson sat down at the piano and began to skin softly through a few airs. John returned with the drinks and Paul set his down on the piano first spreading his folded handkerchief beneath the glass.

He turned around and caught Fay's eye. After seeing what gin will do to varnish," he smiled at her. "One wonders what it does to the stomach."

"You're horned, Paul," she answered.

John strolled over next to Davidson and the later glancing at him smiled and played a bar or two and then stopped. "Remember that?" he asked.

"Do I?" Many a time I've sung that—over a scuttle of beer. The tune was Samuel Hill, one of the many songs of uncertain origin and obscure words that are so popular among college undergraduates."

Paul kept playing it, and John hummed it, improvising words as he went along.

Eleanor Mason sidled up beside him. "You'd better be careful," she warned, holding up a finger. "I'm not unacquainted with that myself, although I don't recognize those words."

John reddened, and stopped. "We're being censored, Paul. Better give 'em something more refined."

Paul instantly switched to grand opera. "I defy anybody to sing the words now," he said, and the company settled back and listened. Paul it seemed was in the mood to play, and when he was in the mood everyone listened.

After a while he settled back and finished his drink and the silence was broken by Marian Forbes, who said to Fay, "Did you hear that Ed-Ed?" and Frank Harris got married last week."

"No," said Fay and Pat Forbes groaned. God forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Marian Forbes smiled tolerantly and Dick Menefee said, "That's treason. Pat from you."

If that be treason make the most of it," quoted Forbes.

Do you hold yourself up as a horrible example, Pat?" asked Eleanor Mason and Marian Forbes shot her a quick look, which passed unnoticed.

Paul Davidson was adjusting another cigaret in his long ivory holder, and was smiling tolerantly.

"Be careful, Pat," warned John. "There are a couple of bachelors here. He smiled significantly at Davidson and Nat Graham.

"I'm safe, I guess," laughed Graham and everyone turned to Paul, the oracle and cynic.

"I am quite unsold on marriage," he said in his best stage accent. "It is nothing but a relic of barbarism. Someone started to laugh but instantly checked it for Paul was unsmiling."

SAYS EMOTION IS PART OF THOUGHT

Can't Detach One from Other, Knudson Tells Phi Beta Kappas

"You can not permanently detach emotion from thought," said Dean Albert Cornelius Knudson, D. D., in his address at the open meeting of Phi Beta Kappa society which was held in the small auditorium of Lawrence Memorial chapel at 10:30 Saturday morning. The subject of his address was "Christianity in Modern Thought."

"The crucial problem of the day rests on the relation of religion and science," he said. The tendency has been for science and religion to en-roach upon each other. The ideal situation would be one in which both science and religion remained on their own territory and did not interfere with the work of the other. The most shameful thing in the history of the ages has been the constant strife between these two factions, Dr. Knudson pointed out.

Dr. Knudson was brought here from Boston where he is Dean of the Boston University school of Theology. He has taught at Denver University, Baker University, Allegheny College, and the University of Boston. He is well known as a lecturer and writer, and is one of the leading theologians in the Methodist church.
